LUCY designed by Louise Hederström 2012

With its neat form, the table lamp Lucy will illuminate and set the mood anywhere in the home, be it on the window sill or a sideboard, or as a bedside table.

"I want people to be able to move the light easily to different locations around the home and that's the reason for having a hook to wind the cord on," says designer Louise Hederström.

The inspiration for the shape comes from sheet metal and its ability to create a strong graphic expression. Soft and yet distinct lines meet to create an intriguing situation where 2D becomes 3D. The lamp contains both elements of the opposites; being soft and friendly, yet at the same time strict and commanding.
